Ike Gets Optimistic Report On NATO

President Will Return To Capital

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower received a report from Secretary of State Dulles Monday, described as optimistic, on the strength of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The secretary gave him an account of the recent NATO meeting in Paris which he had already reported publicly as having left the European non-Communist nations feeling "more than ever free — more than ever secure." Dulles reported to Eisenhower from Washington in a telephone call.

The two set up a conference at the White House Wednesday for a more detailed review when the President returns to spend the Christmas holidays.

The President also spent an hour and 45 minutes talking with Chairman Lewis Strauss of the Atomic Energy Commission who called at the Eisenhower home. Strauss flew back to Washington later.

Murray Snyder of the White House press staff described the Strauss visit as primarily social, with some AEC matters coming up.

It was Snyder, too, who reported on the Dulles telephone call.

All the speculation on whether the President will run again continued without any comment from the President and his staff.

His doctors reported Saturday the 65-year-old Eisenhower was making excellent progress along the road to recovery from the heart attack he suffered in Denver Sept. 24.

But they are unanimously agreed that he should wait until mid-February at the earliest to decide whether he feels his health will permit him to try for a second term.

They have prescribed a trip to a warmer Southern climate for a continuance of his convalescence, to permit him to get more outdoor exercise than the winter cold of Gettysburg affords.

Tentative plans are for the President to fly to Augusta, Ga., after Christmas.

The President will leave for Washington Wednesday. He will meet with the National Security Council on Thursday.

His only official caller listed for Tuesday is Dillon Anderson, his special assistant for national security matters. Anderson will brief him on matters to be taken up at the council meeting.

The President and Mrs. Eisenhower will spend Christmas with their son and daughter-in-law, Maj. and Mrs. John Eisenhower, and the three grandchildren. A fourth grandchild is expected shortly.

EXPENSIVE GIFT IDEA

NEW YORK (AP)—For last-minute shoppers in need of a new Christmas gift idea, consider a real estate gift certificate. A national realty clearing house has them for anything from a $6,000 summer cottage in New Hampshire to a villa on the Riviera or a castle in Ireland.

Leathernecks Play Santa; Collect Toys For Million Tots

WASHINGTON (AP)—To a million or so youngsters this year Santa won't be dressed in his usual red outfit. He will be wearing the uniform of the U. S. Marines.

The Marine air and ground reserves are winding up another "Toys for Tots" campaign in 220 communities. If all goes well, they hope to collect more than the 3,300,000 toys gathered last Christmas.

This seems like an odd avocation for a group whose advertised trademark is the hard-bitten warrior. But Lt. Col. John Gorman sees nothing unusual in it.

"All over the world," he said Monday, "Marines have always been suckers for kids."

Gorman is in charge of the local drive, but what he's doing here is pretty much the pattern used everywhere.

The Marines help other organizations—fire departments, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, religious agencies—collect the toys. These are turned over to welfare groups, to be given children who otherwise might not have a toy this Christmas.

The idea first came in 1948 to

Jordan Parliament Dissolves Over Riots; Call For Elections

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector (AP) — The Ramallah radio announced King Hussein dissolved Jordan's Parliament Monday and called for new elections. The move came after a wave of Arab riots and disorders protesting reports Jordan may join the Western-sponsored Baghdad pact.

No date was mentioned for the voting in the broadcast by the Jordan-controlled radio station.

The disorders spread earlier Monday to the Jordan section of Jerusalem, where 200 to 300 rioters stormed the Turkish consulate. The angered Arabs tore the Turkish flag from the consulate building and wounded Turkish Consul General Hakki Kentli, who later escaped into the Israeli sector of the city.

State Road Plans For '56 Announced

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Gov. Stratton Monday announced details of a record $127,305,000 state highway program for 1956 which will include building of 659 miles of roads.

He said the program is exclusive of a $415 million dollar toll road program which is scheduled to start next year.

New pavement will include 89 miles of two-lane and 40 miles of four-lane roads. Resurfacing of 405 miles of existing roads also is planned.

Of the total, $127,877,000 has been allocated for regular and special projects in the 10 highway districts, and $1,428,000 for emergency and disaster demands.

The program includes construction of 89 new bridges, widening 54 existing bridges, and building 54 new grade separations.

Westinghouse Rejects Proposals To Arbitrate

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Westinghouse Electric Corp. Monday rejected proposals by governors of three states that the firm and two striking unions immediately end the long walkout and submit disputed issues to arbitration.

The arbitration proposals were made separately by Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania; Gov. Averell Harriman of New York and Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland.

Both McKeldin and Leader proposed binding arbitration.

The proposals came on the same day that the big electric appliance firm began making $100 Christmas loans to idled employees who have not worked in the last 30 days. Both striking and furloughed employees are eligible.

The AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers—biggest of the two striking unions—accepted the proposal to arbitrate. The United Electrical Workers (Independent) withheld comment.

In rejecting the offer, Westinghouse said:

"We fully understand the desire to turn this dispute over to arbitration. It is true that many types of labor disputes can be properly submitted to arbitration. However, in this matter, because of our obligations to stockholders, we cannot delegate to a third party a decision which would affect the competitive standing of our company for at least the next five years."

The IUE has frequently suggested in the past that the dispute be submitted to arbitration.

Meanwhile, hundreds of workers took advantage of the $100 Christmas loan plan from the company. The money can be paid back on easy terms after the strike.

Rockefeller Quits As Assistant In Public Relations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Nelson A. Rockefeller turned in his resignation Monday as President Eisenhower's special assistant on psychological strategy. The President accepted it, with thanks for the work Rockefeller has done.

"Compelling personal responsibilities," Rockefeller wrote, "cause me with sincere regrets to submit my resignation as your special assistant, effective Dec. 31."

The temporary White House at Gettysburg, Pa., released the exchange of letters.

James C. Hagerty, the President's press secretary, said Rockefeller felt he had to return to business affairs of the Rockefeller family. Rockefeller, 47, is one of five brothers who are active in the many activities of the wealthy family. He has been serving the government without pay.

When he leaves his post, he will have served in it for just short of a year, having been appointed by Eisenhower Dec. 16, 1954.

To Display Model Of Man-Made Earth-Satellite

NEW YORK (AP)—A model of one of the future man-made earth-satellites will go on display Tuesday at the Hayden Planetarium.

The real thing now in the early stages of development by the U.S. government and scheduled for launching in 1957 or 1958.

The model is made of transparent plastic, so you can see the intricate maze of tubes, instruments, coils and wires inside.

The real satellites probably will be metal spheres. The instruments inside will transmit back to the earth data that has never been available to man before.

The model is 18 inches in diameter. It rests on a pedestal representing the nose of a third-stage rocket and there is an old-fashioned spring device to propel it free of the rocket on its final jaunt through space at 18,000 miles an hour.

The three-stage rocket is expected to shoot the little ball 200 miles into space, later possibly 300. There it will hang for weeks, circling the earth every 90 minutes, until gravitational drag makes it fall back into the atmosphere and burn out like a shooting star.

All that time man's first outpost in space will be sending back information on such subjects as this: The real nature of the mysterious cosmic rays, ultra-violet, X-rays and the earth's magnetic field.

The exact shape of the earth.

The strength of radiations from outer space.

Two Jets Collide In Air: Eight Airmen Lose Lives

Subzero Weather Stings Wide Area, With More To Come

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A prewinter surge of Arctic air packing 'round the clock subzero readings for some northern regions—stung the eastern half of the nation Monday with the season's worst cold.

The mercury slid to 45 degrees below zero in Bemidji and Big Falls, Minn.—coldest Minnesota weather in 11 months.

It "warmed up" to -23 in Bemidji by midday Monday.

Duluth and Minneapolis, Minn., "warmed up" to -11. Duluth had an overnight low of -30 and Minneapolis -21.

Danbury, Wis., had an overnight low of -44; Bismarck, N.D., -30; Lone Rock, Iowa, -20, and Rockford, Ill., -7.

Chicago shivered in 2 above weather, lowest reading so far this season.

The Arctic air swept toward the Atlantic seaboard on northwest winds. The U.S. Weather Bureau in Washington issued cold wave warnings for the Ohio Valley, West Virginia, most of Pennsylvania and New York State.

Subzero temperatures were in prospect for Tuesday morning over much of Ohio, West Virginia, western and northern Pennsylvania and as low as -10 in central and northern New York.

Most of the area east of the Rockies was in the Arctic air except southern Florida and Texas and a stretch along the Gulf Coast.

Illinois Professor Proposes New Farm Program

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP)—A new farm program designed to raise farm income and also curtail surplus production was proposed Monday.

Dr. H.C.M. Case, professor of agricultural economics at the University of Illinois, said he had sent details of the program to Secretary of Agriculture Benson and congressional leaders. Case helped write the Agricultural Act of 1948.

His new program provides for: 1. Increasing the government's rate of payment for soil conservation in direct proportion to the per cent of tillable land put in soil conservation use. The rate of payment could be adjusted on an annual basis according to a formula and would be designed to help stabilize farm income.

2. Lowering the range of flexible price supports to permit them to fluctuate between 50 and 80 per cent of parity, compared with the present range of 75 to 90 per cent. The level of price supports paid to a producer for crops to be sold would be increased in proportion to the increase in per cent of tillable land in soil conservation use.

BLIZZARD TAKES NINE LIVES IN EUROPE

LONDON (AP)—Ten people died Monday in the first savage blizzards of winter over northern Europe.

At Karasjok, Norway, the temperature dropped to 40 degrees below zero.

Brian had its coldest night of the winter. Road and rail services were crippled by fog and ice.

Six people died of the intense cold in Denmark, Norway and Sweden and four more were killed in road accidents in Britain.

There was light snowfall in some parts of Germany, but France reported normal cloudy weather and in Austria people sunbathed in the parks of Vienna.

CHECK CHRISTMAS MAIL DELIVERY FOR EFFICIENCY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Post Office Department said Monday it has asked some 1,000 chambers of commerce across the country to check on the efficiency with which Christmas mail is being delivered in their communities.

Postmaster General Summerfield said the idea is "to get an outsider's point of view on how mail is being handled locally."

If poor service is reported, he said, trouble-shooters will be immediately assigned to the city involved.

This is the third holiday season such a check has been made.

President Expresses Hope For World Peace In Christmas Message

By MARTHA COLE

WASHINGTON (AP)—Expressing hope that infinite peace may "live with us and be ours forever," President Eisenhower sent his Christmas message last night to his countrymen and the world.

"To each of you, wherever you may be, from Mrs. Eisenhower and me, a very merry Christmas," he said.

Then from Gettysburg College near his country home in Pennsylvania, he pressed a key, and 8,000 vari-colored lights on a giant Christmas tree in Washington burst into brilliance.

"Well, it worked," he said as he saw the lights go on via television. Mrs. Eisenhower sat beside him.

Vice President and Mrs. Nixon, with their two young daughters, sat on the stage while carols from a 150-voice choir and the music of the U. S. Marine band rang through the gathering dusk.

For Eisenhower in Gettysburg, Nixon described the scene and then introduced the President to the thousands gathered in the park.

Nixon said it was particularly appropriate that "the man who will open this pageant is one who is loved and respected by peoples throughout the world as a great leader in the cause of peace."

Eisenhower said this Christmas is "brighter in its background and in its promise for the future than any we have known in recent years," and he continued: "I think it is even better than last year and you will remember that Christmas was the first one in many years that was not marred by the tragic incidents of war."

"Peoples of the earth hunger for peace," he said, "so we can be sure that tonight in the fullness of our hearts and in the spirit of the season that as we utter a simple prayer for peace we will be joined by the multitudes of the earth."

Snowstorm Faces Searchers For Paratrooper

ELLENBURG, Wash. (AP)—An Army paratrooper parachuted from an airplane over the rugged eastern foothills of the Cascades Sunday and searchers faced a snowstorm Monday in their attempt to find him.

The transport plane from which he jumped, while it was in trouble temporarily, made it back safely to Larson Air Force Base at Moses Lake.

At Ft. Bragg he was identified as Sgt. J. M. Horan, 23, of Maynard, Mass., who was en route to Seattle to greet his Japanese bride and two children, who are to arrive Thursday by boat.

The missing man was wearing heavy winter clothing when he parachuted from above 7,000 feet. It started snowing shortly afterward.

"He is experienced and might be able to survive, but that's rugged country," said Sheriff Bob Dorsey. "Until this snow lets up, we are almost stymied. We need a chance to spot him from the air. Searchers can't cover all that country on foot and we might lose some more men if we tried."

Crop Report Shows Farmers Produced Record Volume

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government's final crop report of the year showed Monday farmers produced a record volume of products this year despite acreage cutbacks on surplus-plagued crops.

The crop volume was about one-half of 1 per cent below the record harvest marked up in 1948, but a record output of livestock products—meats, poultry and milk—was large enough to make the combined production the biggest ever turned in.

Although acreage and marketing restrictions were imposed on wheat, cotton, rice and tobacco, production of these crops was sufficiently large to add to surpluses accumulated under government price support programs from past big crops.

The department said this year's production of livestock feed grain was second only to that of 1948. Included was a corn crop of 3,185,000,000 bushels, the sixth largest of record for this grain.

The smallest wheat crop in 12 years was produced — reflecting cutbacks under the control pro-

Six Bodies Recovered From Crash

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Two sleek silver B47 Stratojet bombers smashed together in flight near Tampa Monday afternoon, killing eight airmen. One of the planes exploded in a ball of fire and the other plunged to earth and burst into bits.

Two crewmen tried to bail out, but they never had a chance. The distance to the ground was too short for their chutes to open. Six bodies were recovered from the wreckage.

Earlier reports had said two planes colliding in a refueling operation but these were incorrect.

Wreckage was strewn over a wide area of woods and pasturelands southeast of Tampa.

One of the planes was from MacDill Air Force Base at Tampa, the other from Pinecastle Air Force Base near Orlando.

B47 planes normally carry three-man crews, but Lt. Dave Ladd of the Pinecastle public information office said the Pinecastle craft was carrying four.

MacDill officials later said their ship also had four men aboard.

Pinecastle AFB identified the four airmen killed in the B47 attached there as Maj. Samuel L. Castleberry, 36, Adel, Ga.; Capt. Robert Chamberlain, 39, Spruce, Mich.; Capt. Arthur H. Miller, 31, Lakeland, Fla., and Capt. Lynn E. Hunter, 39, Berkeley, Calif.

Lt. Ladd said he understood the MacDill plane had landing gear difficulties and the Pinecastle ship moved closer to determine the trouble. The Pinecastle ship was in the area practicing ground control procedures.

All eyewitnesses agreed the two ships were flying close together when the crash occurred.

The craft were not flying "too high," said the state road patrol.

The patrol had difficulty holding back early arrivals who were endangered by what appeared to be exploding ammunition.

The collision occurred about one-fourth mile northwest of the intersection of U.S. 301 and State Route 76 near Tampa's southeast city limits. The area is sparsely populated and there is much dairy pastureland in the region.

Julian Lane, a Tampa dairyman saw the planes a split second after the explosion. He said that when the first plane exploded, debris was sent high into the air.

WHERE THE BOOM HURTS

Everyone agrees it's wonderful that 65 million Americans are employed today in our booming economy. But the plenitude of jobs with good pay and attractive working conditions has its bad side, too. There aren't enough people taking on some of the tasks.

Garage and service station mechanics, plumbers, house painters, carpenters, roof repairmen and similar workers are altogether too scarce in a time when there are more homes and cars than ever before.

The 1950 census showed just 900,000 carpenters, 390,000 painters and 275,000 plumbers in the United States—not a lot when measured against the population and the total work force.

Some of these jobs command good money, and offer considerable independence and flexibility of working hours. But more often than not they come under the heading of dirty work, and they don't give men the community status they want. A man with a factory job frequently seems to have more standing.

The consequence of this situation is that the experienced, efficient workers in these fields are vastly overburdened with work, and many incompetents have crept in to help fill the gap.

Recently the Wall Street Journal surveyed the home repair situation and found the catalogue of householders' complaints long and bitter. They gripe about slowness and inefficiency on the job, delay in showing up at all, overcharging, and so on.

The responsible men in these fields acknowledge there are delays and sloppy work. They indicate they'd be quite happy if they could find more and better helpers. As it is, they do the best they can with the big jobs, they say, and often never get around to the smaller ones.

But they have their complaints against the householders, too. They say the latter are sometimes quite unreasonable in their demands, expecting immediate service of a sort they couldn't hope to get from anyone else, calling four or five repairmen in hope of getting one to show, stalling on payment of bills.

A recession probably would change things in a hurry. We know one area where occasional layoffs in a large factory are promptly followed by a rash of new house painters knocking on doors and looking for work. But who wants a recession?

If the economists are right and we are in for an increasing manpower shortage in the years just ahead—as population growth outruns additions to the labor supply—then obviously this problem is going to get worse.

About all we can do is develop a little more philosophical patience, ask that the repairmen not use the situation to excuse avoidable delay and poor work, and scrap the idea that "do-it-yourself" is a craze that will pass like miniature golf. Looks like we'll be doing it ourselves for a long time.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—This was a year of tragedy in Hollywood. The film town is accustomed to losing a number of its names each year, usually those who have reaped their fame and passed the prime of life. But in 1955, death took three players whose promise had scarcely been realized.

On Sept. 30, death on the highway removed from the Hollywood scene the brilliant, provocative figure of James Dean. No actor in recent years had captured the public fancy so quickly. After three starring films, his career was over, but his mark will long be seen.

This month a poll of 15 million moviegoers named his performance in "East of Eden" the best of the year. The Academy may well do the same next March. Dean died at 24.

On Aug. 5, cancer killed Susan Ball, whose fight against the dread disease had captured the nation's heart. The 21-year-old actress had twice thought she had won the battle—first when the cancer appeared to be arrested by treatments, then after the leg had been amputated.

She returned to show business in an Indian movie and a night club with her husband, Richard Long. But cancer returned and claimed her life.

Robert Francis, the boyish Willie Keith of "The Caine Mutiny," met sudden death in the crash of an airplane he was piloting July 31. His promising career ended at 26. Hollywood received another shock on the day Susan Ball died. A heart attack stilled the vivacious Carmen Miranda at 41. She had no inkling of heart trouble and had performed on a Jimmy Durante TV show the previous night.

Another luminary stricken in the prime of life was John Hodiak. During an upsurge in his acting career, he fell dead of a heart attack Oct. 19. He also was 41.

Best pictures: "East of Eden," "Marty," "Mister Roberts," "Oklahoma!" "Guys and Dolls."

Best male star performances: James Dean, "East of Eden"; James Cagney, "Love Me or Leave Me"; Ernest Borgnine, "Marty"; Frank Sinatra, "The Man With the Golden Arm"; Cary Grant, "To Catch a Thief."

Neuritis Can Be the Result Of a Number of Conditions

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

Neuritis is best described as a painful disorder of the nerves. The inflammation of the nerve (or nerves) is usually shown by pain and tenderness, disturbances of feeling or sensation, and often a certain amount of wasting of the muscles.

One problem about neuritis is that there are many possible causes. The problem is to try to find which one is present in each individual sufferer.

Diabetes (especially if the condition has not been controlled by suitable diet or insulin), and infections are among the common causes.

Vitamin deficiencies, especially the lack of vitamin B-1, also may produce nerve pain.

Simple Neuritis—or inflammation of several nerves—is common among the victims of chronic alcoholism. Perhaps at least part of the reason is that such persons often substitute alcohol for a properly balanced diet containing enough vitamin B-1. This type of neuritis often can be much improved, or even relieved entirely, by giving extra vitamin B-1.

Severe anemia can produce neuritis.

Poisoning with the heavy metals such as arsenic, and many of the substances used in industry may produce neuritis.

This incomplete list gives an idea of the problem in making a diagnosis.

Successful Treatment is almost always difficult. Sometimes the pain is almost intolerable, particularly in people who have been weakened by disease and in the elderly.

Relief has sometimes been obtained by killing the involved nerve, by injecting alcohol, or by easy and so much more gracious cutting the nerve by an operation, to include her?

Insincere Persons Give Themselves Away in Time

Millett makes a great show of being friendly and liking people. Her concern and interest are deceptive on short acquaintance and it is easy to believe that she actually is an open-hearted, friendly person.

But after you've known Millett a while you begin to notice that the things she loves to tell you about mutual friends are things that show them up to a disadvantage.

She says with apparent concern: "Isn't it a shame about Sue's boy getting into trouble?" But then she adds: "Of course, I always knew something like that was going to happen the way Sue spoiled him."

You see then that she isn't interested in the trouble her friend, Sue, is in but in seizing the opportunity to tear her down.

She talks about others' troubles with relish and loves the phrases "Poor thing" or "Poor dear" and "I feel so sorry for her."

CAN'T WAIT TO FIND A FLAW

But when something good happens to a friend she hurries to find a flaw.

Jim bought Margaret a new car and when Millett mentions it she is quick to point out that it is a shame he picked that funny shade of bright blue.

"Of course now poor Margaret is stuck with it," she says sympathetically.

So Margaret's good luck is turned quickly into something Millett finds easier to take—an unfortunate example of poor taste.

There are lots of Milletts in the world and they quite easily fool people on short acquaintance. But they always give themselves away in time.

For they can't help but use their friends' misfortunes as a means of making themselves feel superior. And they can't help but point out flaws in anything good that happens to someone else. For they don't really LIKE people.

By HAL BOYLE

The things youth may discover are adventure, friendship, sex, love, parenthood, death, money, boredom and faith.

On this day I would discuss the discovery of money.

First, let us consider what money is or, as the cynic says, was. Money is usually a medium of exchange and sometimes a measure of value.

How does a human being discover the value of money? To me it happened in this wise:

Strolling down the pavement as a child I found a pocketbook containing about $65. I promptly divided the money with a friend who was with me. He was older, anyway, and could have taken it all from me.

The dough I had left made me the biggest guy in the neighborhood. I had what the older kids didn't have—cash in hand. For the first time in my life, cash beyond the simple avarice of childhood.

For 35 cents I bought up a triggerless real pistol, the pride of the block. I bought all the agate marbles I never had been able to win when knuckles were on the ground for keeps.

I took all the kids for three blocks around to a free treat on me at the corner drug store. When they were stuffed with ice cream, we went to the afternoon movie. I bought the tickets. I bought the popcorn. I bought the candy.

Nobody who later came from Texas ever spent money more madly, had more fun, or spread more joy around—for less than $35. I was a real hero, at least until one of my ice cream and pop laden joy riders got sick with all this unexpected plenty.

Nobody who later came from Texas ever spent money more madly, had more fun, or spread more joy around—for less than $35. I was a real hero, at least until one of my ice cream and pop laden joy riders got sick with all this unexpected plenty. He spilled everything, including the source of the wealth.

This brought me up front in the picture. Well, my father was an honest man and doing all right at the time. He figured that the pocketbook contained somebody's pay money who needed it. People thought of things like that in those times.

He checked the newspaper until in the Kansas City Times he found a notice by the person who had lost the pocketbook. My father dug into his own pocket and paid it all back.

Then we had a real old-fashioned father and son heart-to-heart talk, during which I said nothing and dad whipped off his belt and put the belt to me in an area where he thought the memory would linger.

It still does, and I still recall the lesson I learned when I first discovered the importance of money.

Moral: You might as well earn money the hard way, because money you pick up easy will only cause you trouble at the end.

Local Governments Share In Flood-Control Costs

By PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—Maj. Gen. Samuel D. Sturgis, Jr., chief of the Army Corps of Engineers, has issued new orders that on small flood-control projects, a share of the costs will hereafter be assessed against local beneficiaries.

In the past, Corps of Engineers has borne the whole cost.

The change in policy will be of interest to everyone who wants the government to do something about a chick that goes on a rampage. The plan follows policy set for the Department of Agriculture's Soil Conservation Service under the Hope-Aiken small watershed act of 1954.

It indicates that after years of bureaucratic red tape, the federal government has at last made a small start toward getting a unified water policy.

When The Second Annual Watershed Conference of 25 national conservation organizations met in Washington a few days ago, there was one principal bellyache.

That concerned too much variation in assessing the cost share. Downstream city folk got their flood-prevention work from Army Engineers free. Upstream farmers who got their work done by Soil Conservation Service had to pay a share of the cost. And this share varied from 15 to 80 per cent of the total, they complained.

In the backs of their minds, of course, was the idea that the federal government ought to pay all the costs.

It would take an amendment to the Hope-Aiken Act to put this into effect. That isn't likely now. This isn't the philosophy of the Eisenhower administration. It believes in larger local participation for all public works.

This Is The Way the Hope-Aiken Act works now:

Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service is authorized to receive applications from local watershed organizations for upstream flood control and reservoir development.

SCS surveys the basin. It determines first if benefits would exceed costs. Then it determines how much of the cost can be born by local beneficiaries. SCS next makes an agreement with them on this basis, if the project is feasible.

SCS then submits a work plan to Congress. If Congress doesn't turn it down in 60 days, the project stands approved. Local authorities can then let contracts, after raising their share of the costs.

To date, 450 of these applications have been received from drainage districts and watershed associations in 42 states. One hundred and twenty-three have been approved. SCS will have 25 work plans ready for submission to Congress in January. Another 25 will be ready before Congress adjourns.

The Range Of Local Cost assessment for these 50 projects will run from 30 to 60 per cent. On some particular parts of a watershed development, the local cost share is down to 10 per cent. But the average is close to 50 per cent.

The alternative to the SCS plan is to get Congress to pass a special appropriation to have Corps of Engineers handle a project.

Army Engineers now have two projects where local costs may be assessed. These are the Salt-Creek-Wahoon and the Gering-Mitchell developments in eastern Nebraska. Local costs on parts of the Salt Creek project have been set at 11 per cent. They're still under negotiation on Gering-Mitchell.

For the future, however, local costs will be assessed on all projects under 5000 acre-feet. A typical reservoir would cover 500 acres—about three-fourths of a square mile—with 10 feet of water. Its cost would be between $250,000 and $500,000.

Estimates have been made that there are some 1600 up-stream flood prevention and conservation projects that could be developed. That's a 100-year job. The total cost might be 25 to 30 billion dollars.

This is, of course, prohibitive. But it gives an idea of what's ahead if Congress should decide to go into this thing in a big way, and put the full cost on the good old U. S. taxpayer.

Rebuilding Tot's Strength By Love Won't Spoil Him

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

During a recent, severe illness of my reader's five-year-old grandson, his mother slept on a cot in his bedroom. Now that he's recovering, he wants the arrangement continued.

His mother insists on maintaining it; his father says it's "spoiling" him and wants it terminated at once. His grandmother thinks there must be some compromise solution.

So do I.
Let's try giving this special sleeping arrangement the most relaxed and cheerful indulgence we can for the next few nights. (Up to now it's just had anxiety and resentment.) At the same time, let's put a time limit on it.

Our young convalescent may seem to be dismayed to learn that we intend shortly to resume our normal sleeping habits. He won't really be. Actually, he'll be comforted by our placid suggestion that the time for sick-room arrangement is almost over.

In his own way, he's as anxious to become his own independent self again as we are to see it restored to him.

Were he faced with the prospect of accepting us as his permanent roommate, he wouldn't relish it one bit. The trouble is, mothers worn by worry, nights of nursing, the burden of the sick child's helplessness don't see this readily. The memory of his weakness is still so vivid that they find it hard to increase their demands upon his returning strength.

If this young mother will begin to accept a normal state for her recuperating youngster, he'll begin to accept the idea of sleeping arrangements to match it. He'll tell her himself that he wants her to get out of his room. He may try to be polite about it; he may just say, "Go on back to your own room now." It doesn't matter. What counts are his acknowledgment of regained self-possession—and his demand for return to pre-illness independence.

As to "spoiling" him by compromising with his convalescent position between illness and full strength, let me quote noted psychiatrist Dr. Lawson G. Lowrey on "spoiled" youngsters. He writes, "Nine-tenths of the children that I see who are called 'spoiled' are not 'spoiled' at all. They are the most neglected emotionally; the most severely rejected on the emotional side that you can imagine."

We do not spoil children by serving their needs with discernment and love. Right now, my reader's little grandson seems to have two needs. His weakness needs the continued support of his mother's presence at night—and his recuperating energies need the assurance that they can be used with it. He needs us to balance our support of his weakness with our happy and relaxed assumption of his strength.

What makes "spoiled" children often is parents' habit of giving them the action they demand—but withholding the love and understanding that make the action meaningful.

Cranberry Conserve Is Tasty Gift From Your Kitchen

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

If you have delayed making your Christmas "kitchen" gifts, Nancyann Graham has a solution for you—last-minute cranberry conserve.

Nancyann, young wife and mother, also decorating editor on TV Home show, leads a full life. A full life means many friends and many friends means lots of Christmas presents. Therefore, in her New York apartment she drags her husband into helping her "assembly line" jars filled with her conserve.

To add extra appeal to the gift, she advises packing the sauce in 18-ounce apothecary jars (purchased at the five and ten) and cover with pale green paraffin, sprinkled with a little silver flitter before it cools completely.

Here's her recipe for 1 pound (1 box) cranberries. You can easily multiply this for as many batches as your largest kitchen kettle will hold. An 8-quart saucepot will easily hold 3 batches which makes a total of about 12 pints.
Nancyann's Cranberry Conserve (Makes 3 pints)

Four cups (1 pound box) fresh cranberries, 1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple, 1 can concentrated frozen orange juice, 1½ cups sugar, 3 cinnamon sticks, 1 tablespoon whole cloves, 1 cup seedless raisins, 1 cup whole blanched almonds.

TV BOUND—Actress Lauren Bacall is due for another TV spectacular, "Blithe Spirit," with Noel Coward on Jan. 15. Although live TV gives her the jitters, she says you can't ignore it. Besides, she adds, it's good training if you have little stage experience.

Wash cranberries. Drain pineapple thoroughly and mix the juice and concentrated orange juice with enough water to make 2 cups liquid. Mix liquid with sugar until sugar is partially dissolved. Put spices in cheesecloth bag and add to liquid in large saucepan. Bring to slow boil and boil 10 minutes. Add cranberries, bring to boil again and boil 5 minutes or until cranberries begin to pop, stirring frequently. Stir in raisins and pineapple and boil 5 minutes longer, stirring several times. Cool slightly. Stirring in nuts. Pack in pint jars and paraffin.

Note: If desired, you may add more raisins and more or less nuts. It doesn't alter the end result.

TOMORROW'S DINNER: Roast loin of pork, Nancyann's cranberry conserve, baked sweet potatoes, quick-cooked cabbage, rye rolls, butter or margarine, stewed pears, sugar cookies, coffee, tea, milk.

Communication

Journal Courier Co.,

Gentlemen:

For the past several weeks I have been reading with interest the discussion of the City Council concerning a proposed subway on North Main at the Wabash Railroad crossing. It would seem to me that such a subway would be difficult because of the slope of the street in the vicinity. I note that a citizen has suggested a second plan of having the Wabash Railroad change its road to run around the city.

It seems to me that this latter plan is the most sensible one that has been proposed. This is because we have no passenger train service to the city; only freight service. A road around the city would not seem to handicap freight service in the least.

New highways tend to by-pass cities more and more. Why can the railroads not do the same? Dangerous crossings through the city would be eliminated, or at least reduced to a minimum. I would suggest that the members of the City Council do everything in their power to persuade the Wabash Railroad Company to move the tracks around the city.

I am sure citizens who live adjacent to the railroad would approve the action strongly, as well as all those motorists who must cross the railroad tracks.

Respectfully yours,
Chas. A. Sheppard

55 Christmas Hits Records In Sales, Bonuses, Displays

BY SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The biggest Christmas on any count! Record retail sales, back-breaking exchange of personal gifts and cards, a billion dollar swapping of business gifts, juicy bonuses handed out to employees by the bosses, an all-time high in year-end dividends, unprecedented use of electricity for Christmas displays, and awesome traffic jams.

Against that background a few timid souls are raising the question of how commercial Christmas giving has become.

Business management is beginning to look at one segment of the Christmas gift exchanging with a searching eye. That's the increasingly elaborate gifts (tax deductible) which businessmen exchange with each other or send to their customers and suppliers.

According to the gift manufacturers this is a whale of a season. There are some 200 firms specifically catering to this trade, and the largest has an annual sales volume of around 50 million dollars. Their combined sales come to around 800 million. Add in the gift buying by businessmen at liquor and department stores and the total could easily top one billion. Exact figures are hard to come by because the line between a business horns who had gone bawdy in Mr. Cupp's boat.

GREAT Circle

BY ROBERT CARSE

Morrow had often been the butt of Oliphant's and Titcomb's good-natured baiting, but now their blows hurt, and they had hit him hard enough to draw blood through the seat of his slops trousers. He halted very suddenly on the deck and his peculiarly shaped head was bowed and his arms were spread. He resembled a heifer that had been plagued too long by flies. Naish expected him to bellow, to wave horns and tail. Morrow instead said calmly, "Leave off, the two of you. My pants won't take more, and my patience is gone."

"Then one for your noggin!" Oliphant said, and made the mistake of stepping within Morrow's reach. Morrow kicked him high on the thigh; he simultaneously clipped him across the jugular with the flat of his hand.

The carpenter's knees sagged. The stave fell out of his hand and he collapsed with a thump against the fore side of the galley house. Morrow picked up the stave while Titcomb hit him viciously over the head twice. He straightened, blinking "Have to hit harder than that to make a barrel which'll hold oil, cooper," he said.

SMOKE CAUSES ALARM AT SILVER STAR INN

Firemen made a run at 2:10 a.m. Sunday to the Silver Star Inn, one mile east of the city, where a refrigerator motor developed trouble and filled the building with smoke. Damage was restricted to the motor.

At 5:22 p.m. Sunday an alarm was turned in from the home of Edward Morthole, 1842 Mound avenue. A bucket of trash in the basement was on fire, but the blaze was quickly extinguished.

MOTHER OF LOCAL RESIDENT DIES

Mr. and Mrs. Owen Church, 308 East Vandalla Road, who have lived in the city for the past three years, have returned to their home from Princeton, Illinois, where they were called by the death of Mrs. Church's mother, Mrs. Mary Church.

Mrs. Church died Tuesday, Dec. 13, at Princeton and rites and burial were held there. Owen church is associated with the Pioneer Corn company in Jacksonville.

TO SING ON TV PROGRAM

Valencia Forwood Huson, formerly of this city, will appear in a special Christmas TV concert over WICS, Springfield, with the Springfield Municipal choir at 9 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 20.

"The fat man obeyed with a falsely abashed look. A smart rooster, Naish thought. 'We lost a harpooner today as you well reckon, Morrow. In future, I'm taking a boat away and I'll need a man to heave the iron for me. D'you think you can do as well with whale as you have with the carpenter and the cooper?'"

"Let me try the iron, sir," he said, "and I'll drive it home like a shaft of lightning."

"I'm given to believe you," Naish said. "Take your gear out of the fo'c'sle. You'll live aft."

"And sleep in a dead man's bunk, sir?" Morrow's eyes dilated.

"That's all right," Naish said, aware that all of the crew on deck listened. "Diego's where he won't mind. Neither should you."

At night and in starlight mostly, Albemarle Morrow practiced hurling a harpoon. Naish accompanied him, and when the man tired took possession of the weapon himself.

Their targets were the dolphins who had been with the ship for weeks.

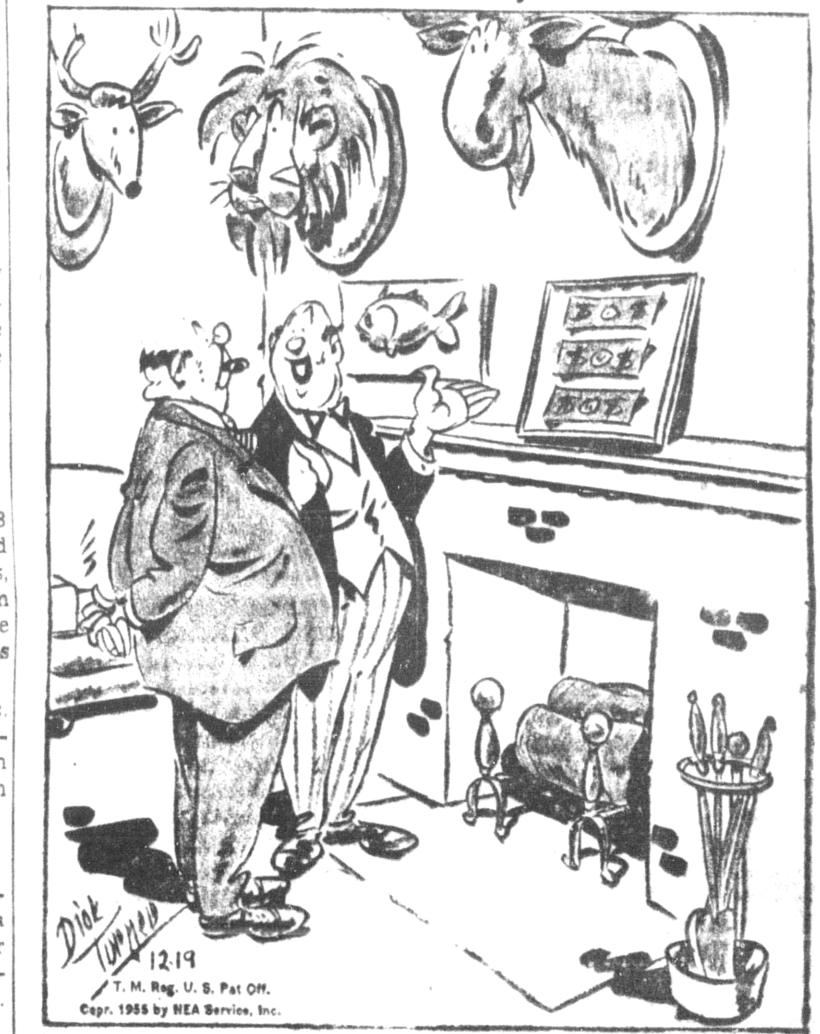

NAISH was fascinated by his own first capture, but more elated by Morrow's success. From the respectful glances that Naish, Titcomb and Kitchen and the two senior mates had begun to give Morrow, they must have recognized that the fat man had the skill of a real harpooner.

Naish turned his thought to the boat and the crew to man it. There still existed, he knew, the deep dislike of him by the two senior mates. On the Brazil Banks, their crews hadn't acted too badly, and at least hadn't proven themselves cowards. So the men had taken pretty much the same attitude as their commanders. They had no use for Purdy, Simpson and Post, often picked fights with them in the fo'c'sle.

That limited his choice to the lot who had been cowardly while under Mr. Cupp's command.

Jack Wilson of Anderson was high point man with 26, with Eastern's Dean Brower runner-up with 20.

KUHARICH SIGNS THREE YEAR CONTRACT WITH REDSKINS

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joe Kuharich Monday signed a three-year contract to coach for the Washington Redskins after leading the club to second place in the National Football League without any kind of contract.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed.

In 1954, the Redskins finished in a tie for last in the NFL's eastern division. The club won 3 and lost 9. In the season just completed the Redskins were second at 8-4.

Up to now, Kuharich had been working under a verbal agreement.

Australia Comes Up With New Tennis Whiz For Davis Cup Team

SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — If Lew Hoad and Ken Rosewall should decide a year hence to turn professional as expected, Australia's Davis Cup wrecking machine shouldn't miss a beat.

Captain Harry Hopman's never-ending assembly line has produced another young court dazzler in Ashley Cooper, a tall, dark-haired stylist of 19.

Matured by a world tour with Hopman's tennis forces, Cooper returned home for the Australian season and showed his readiness for big time competition by beating both Hoad and Rosewall within the space of 10 days.

In late November he defeated Hoad in an interstate match 7-5, 6-4, 6-2. Ten days later he whipped Rosewall in the semifinals of the Victorian Championships at Melbourne 6-3, 6-4, 3-6, 1-6, 6-2.

By ROBERT E. VOGES

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Talk at the Rose Bowl football camp Monday was mostly about legs—football players' legs, of course.

Michigan State Coach Duffy Daugherty started it all when asked why he chose to view, for scouting purposes, films of rival UCLA's games against Stanford and Southern California. Each Rose Bowl school is entitled to look at the films of any two of its opponents' games.

Daugherty said that if he'd known UCLA's passing star, Ronnie Knox, was going to recover sufficiently from a leg injury to make an appearance in the Jan. 2 classic, "I might have picked another film for one of the games."

Knox, recovering from an ankle fracture, played only briefly against Stanford and not at all against Southern California.

From the UCLA camp it was reported that Knox should start running in uniform some time this week. He already has been throwing some passes in sweat clothes.

Tommy Harmon, former University of Michigan star and now a West Coast sportscaster, put in a public dissent. He said he doesn't think Knox will be in top form, despite statements of the UCLA physician.

"I played a little football myself," Harmon said. "And you can't take a cast off a player's leg (last Wednesday) and expect him to be a world beater in three weeks."

On the Michigan State side of the leg discussion, Daugherty reported that halfback Clarence Peaks, who missed two games because of a knee injury, was getting back into top form.

Michigan State ran its first team against a scouting outfit rained in UCLA single wing tactics in the morning practice.

In the afternoon, Michigan State held an open house for fans at the East Los Angeles Junior College Stadium.

It was the first time in bowl history that a visiting Big Ten team had put out a prior announcement to invite the general public to watch a practice.

Daugherty had mattresses trucked in so his players could relax during the noon interval of the two-a-day workout after eating their box lunches.

Bolt Thinks Snead Is Getting Help By Fans Cheating

SANFORD, Fla. (AP) — Tommy Bolt says he's not accusing Sam Snead but is "reasonably sure" the West Virginian gets help from the galleries in golf tournaments.

He told newsmen Sunday that, although he didn't see it, he believes a fan kicked Snead's ball toward the green in the sudden-death playoff of the Miami Open Dec. 11. Snead defeated Bolt on the first hole of the playoff.

And, he said, he is "reasonably sure" Snead got fan help in other tournaments because "I have talked to thousands of people who said they saw him helped."

The Chattanooga professional said no one told him he saw Snead aided at Miami.

"It helped him out to play a shot to the green."

Snead retorted "Bolt wasn't watching my shot. If he had been, he would have seen I had to execute a very difficult shot." Snead said he found the ball among the trees and sliced it out in view of the gallery and newsmen.

"If anybody had kicked it, he should have kicked it a little further," the West Virginian added.

Asked for comment, Ray O'Brien, PGA tournament director, said "I don't think Tommy was serious. Why, he and Sam joked about this at Miami."

Bolt tied for fourth place in the Sanford Open which ended Sunday and Snead tied for twelfth.

Norman Strader Dismissed As Coach Of 49ers

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Norman (Red) Strader was dismissed Monday as head coach of the San Francisco 49ers of the National Football League.

Announcement of Strader's firing was made by 49er owner Tony Morabito at a press conference in his office.

"Mr. Strader no longer is our head coach," Morabito said. "The action was taken in the better interest of the 49ers and Mr. Strader. It is effective immediately."

Strader was in his first year as head coach of the pro club. He finished with a record of four victories against eight defeats in league play.

Strader moved up to the head coaching job from assistant coach after Lawrence (Buck) Shaw was fired by the 49ers last January. Shaw now is coaching at the U.S. Air Force Academy.

In letting Shaw go, Morabito frankly said it was because he had failed to win a title.

While less forthright in announcing Strader's departure, it was known that the club had failed to live up to rosy expectations after having won all but one of its exhibition series last summer and fall.

Alabama Upsets Holy Cross 89-84

BOSTON (AP) — Alabama, its 12 point half time lead melted to 1 late in the game, overcame Holy Cross' full court press and tremendous final surge Monday night for an 89-84 upset of the previously unbeaten Crusaders.

Massachusetts defeated Boston College, 91-73, and St. Anselm's downed Colby, 63-52, in the other games of the Boston Garden triple-header.

Sophomore reserve center Jack Kubiszyn, George Linn, and Dennis O'Shea were the Alabama big guns who pulled the Crimson Tide through the hectic going at the finish. Linn scored 24 points and O'Shea 20 while Holy Cross' Tom Heinsohn got his usual 30.

Alabama entered the game rated fifth in the nation compared to Holy Cross' 10th position. The Crusaders were favored.

Indiana Takes Easy Win From Cincinnati

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP) — Indiana's young Hoosiers poured it on Cincinnati's basketball team Monday night 80-61, to avenge a drubbing they took from the Bearcats last season. Halie Bryant led the Hoosiers with 31 points.

Bryant's deadly outside shooting - 10 of 23 shots - rattled the Cincinnati defense. He sank 11 of 12 free throws on the fowls the Bearcats committed trying to stop him.

Cincinnati broke to a 4-0 lead and played the Hoosiers on even terms for almost half of the first half. The lead changed six times before Indiana went in front to stay at 16-15. The Hoosiers spurred to 24-17 and were on top at half-time, 41-31.

The Hoosiers raced to a 51-35 advantage early in the second half, but Willie Ernest led a Cincinnati drive that narrowed the gap to seven points at 60-53 with 5:40 to play.

Archie Dees got a three-pointer to take the heat off the Hoosiers, and Bryant scored the next six points as Indiana pulled away. Bryant had a 19-point assist from Wally Choice. Dave Plunkett was high for Cincinnati with 18.

RUGGED GAME FOR PROF

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Principal Elbert Brooks of Pueblo high school is going to stick to his duties in the office from now on.

Brooks waded into the middle of a football game between two nearby high schools and a player slammed into him. He was serving as an official.

Brooks was in the hospital for a week with a fracture of the forehead and contusions of the nose and teeth.

NO RESISTANCE
KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A Knoxville man was haled into court for running a red light and resisting arrest by Knoxville's two women traffic officers.

"I'm guilty of the red light charge," he said, "but Judge J. didn't resist these charming women." He was fined $8 on the traffic charge. The judge dismissed the other as ridiculous.

QUETER JETS IN BOEING

SEATTLE (AP) — The Boeing Airplane Co. says it is on the way to controlling the noise and runway landing speeds of its jet planes.

The company says it has overcome "the basic problems of jet engine thrust-reversing and sound-suppressing." Engineers are developing a unit that can be installed on the tailpipe of its big 707 jet transport to do both jobs.

The thrust reverser will make it possible to stop a jet quicker on the runway, as reversible propellers do for the standard commercial airliners.

HENRY QUITS HOCKEY

HERSHEY, Pa. (AP) — Gordon (Red) Henry who starred for 11 seasons as Hershey goalie in the American Hockey League has retired from the pro ranks and is playing for the Owen Sound Mercurys in the Senior Ottawa Hockey Assn.

ANTARCTIC EXPEDITION

AUCKLAND, New Zealand (Tuesday) (AP) — Eight planes of the U. S. Navy's Antarctic expedition left New Zealand Tuesday on a 2,200-mile nonstop hop to the frozen south polar region.

The flight is expected to take 14 to 16 hours.

The takeoff was ordered after a message from Rear Adm. George J. Dufek reported weather prospects excellent and a landing strip on the ice of the frozen Ross Sea ready to receive the planes.

Dufek is a leader of the advance party which reached the area by ship.

There are no landing points between New Zealand and the Ross Sea ice, but seven ships spaced 250 miles apart along the route will support the flight.

Syracuse Loses Baseball Franchise To Miami, Florida

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — After having been on the verge of retaining the club, Syracuse Monday lost its International Baseball League franchise to Miami, Fla.

Although lawyers worked feverishly to frame a contract which would permit retention of the team here, the contract hadn't been drawn up at 5 p.m., the deadline set by Chiefs' owner Martin D. Haske.

At 5:05 p.m., Haske sent a telegram to Sidney Salomon Jr., and Elliott Stein, in Miami, selling them the Syracuse franchise.

According to Haske, his own lawyer and lawyers for the newly organized New York Community Baseball Corp. here had reached oral agreement Monday on terms of a contract which would have kept the team in Syracuse. However, Haske had agreed to sell to Salomon and Stein if no contract were signed by Monday's deadline. The corporation lawyers were unable to draw up such a contract prior to the deadline, saying it was too involved to be done hurriedly.

Thus three months of work by civic groups here, climaxed by a rally which brought $55,000 in pledges from fans to keep the club here, failed of success.

Campbell Picked As West Virginia Athlete Of Year

HUNTINGTON, W. Va. (AP) — A year ago Billy Campbell lay in a hospital bed with burns on his hands and face. It was doubtful he would ever play golf again.

Monday the Huntington golfer, state open and amateur champion and captain of the 1955 Walker Cup team, is West Virginia's athlete of the year. He was named in a poll of state sports writers.

"I don't take it as a personal compliment," Campbell said. "But I do take it as a compliment of golf — that the game is getting more recognition."

"It may be a compliment to the Walker Cup. If so, I'm pleased for that."

The nomination comes just a year after the accident he feared might end his golf career.

Campbell had third degree burns on his hands and second degree burns on his face after smothering flames which suddenly flared while he and his wife were making Christmas candles.

Suspend Chicago Detective Seized In Dice Game Raid

CHICAGO (AP) — The police commissioner Monday suspended a robbery detail detective who was seized with 32 other men in a police raid on a floating dice game.

He is Kenneth Kells, 30, who was arrested in the raid Sunday. He posted $25 bond and was released on a charge of patronizing a gambling house.

Commissioner Timothy J. O'Connor said the department's inspector, Edwin Daly, will determine whether Kells should go before the civil service trial board on charges of dereliction of duty.

Kells said he was in the gambling place, an apartment on the second floor at 3614 W. Chicago Ave., doing "undercover work." The commissioner said "I'm all for policemen ferreting out crime but they should keep their commanding officers informed of their 'undercover work.'"

Nebraska led throughout the first half and held a 33-27 advantage at the intermission, but scored only 19 points in the second half while the Badgers grabbed 44 to run away with the game.

Judson Leads Illini To Win Over DePaul 97-79 For 4th Victory

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — Illinois won its fourth non-conference basketball victory in five games Monday night, defeating DePaul, 97-79, behind Paul Judson's 29-point output.

Shooting with uncanny accuracy from the free throw line, DePaul stayed with the Illini in the first half and only a desperation shot by Judson, estimated at 57 feet, but Illinois ahead at the half, 42-40.

In the second half, Illinois stormed the boards and led by as much as 25 points.

DePaul started fast and even held a 36-26 lead in the first half before Illinois made its move.

It was still touch-and-go early in the second half until Illinois put together 10 straight points, including three baskets by Judson, for a commanding 62-47 lead.

Without a letup, Illinois poured it on until it had taken an 82-57 lead.

Using only seven men, DePaul had six players who scored in double figures. Ron Sobieszczyk was high with 21 points.

DePaul shot .411 from the field hitting 23 of 56 shots while Illinois had to settle for a .371 scoring on 36 of 97 attempts.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK (P)—Industrial and convertible issues eased to give an irregular bond market a tendency toward the downside Monday.

U. S. Treasury obligations inched up in light dealings in the over-the-counter market.

Volume increased to $3,490,000 par value from $3,340,000 last Friday.

Delivery of the 415 million dollars of Illinois toll road revenue bonds, which had been scheduled for Wednesday, has been postponed indefinitely because of court action.

James P. Jamieson, partner of Glore, Forgan & Co., which is managing the underwriters, said the delay would permit attorneys to study the latest litigation.

Last Thursday a Belvidere, Ill., farmer filed suit, charging the contract for sale of the bonds was voided because Glore, Forgan had acted both as underwriter and financial advisor to the road commission. The suit claimed also that all of the bonds were not sold for cash as required by law.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (P)—The stock market ran into late selling Monday, and it picked enough force to turn the price list into a broad mixture of gains and losses.

The market did all right on the higher side most of the day with aircraft leading the way. It even tried something of a rally late in the day under the influence of climbing railroads.

At the finish, however, a downward drift of prices took the rails to the losing side, cut the aircraft back well under their best, and produced many losers in key places.

Aircraft have been in demand for some time because of mounting defense estimates. Railroads had the benefit Monday of a report that the Interstate Commerce Commission will be asked to boost freight rates. From Detroit came reports of diminishing production on the 1956 models.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell back 30 cents at $178.30. It was up 40 cents on Friday following five straight falls. The mixed nature of the average itself was shown by the rise of 20 cents in the industrial component and the decline of 40 cents in rails and 20 cents in utilities.

Volume came to 2,380,000 shares. On Friday the total was 2,310,000.

Trading was heavy at 1,690,000 shares on the American Stock Exchange as compared with 1,150,000 shares traded Friday. Prices were generally mixed.

GRAINS MOVE HIGHER; SOME CORN WEAKNESS

By WILLIAM FERRIS

CHICAGO (P)—Grains generally moved higher on the Board of Trade Monday although there was a little weakness in corn, largely reflecting continued deliveries of cash grain on December futures.

Both wheat and oats held firm in the cash market, a fact which brought about additional short covering in the December futures of these cereals. Tuesday is the last day for dealings in December contracts.

Wheat closed 3/8-1/2 higher, corn 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher, oats 1/2 lower to 1/4 higher, rye 1/4-1/2 higher, soybeans 1/2-1 1/2 higher and lard 8 to 22 cents a hundred pounds higher.

There was very little selling pressure on the wheat market. Movement of cash wheat from the country continued small. Visible supply of wheat decreased 3,776,000 bushels in the past week, but at 391,550,000 bushels is still ahead of last year's 366,035,000 at this time.

Soybeans were aided by an advance in soybean oil, which inched up 1/8 to sell at 10 1/2 cents a pound. That was its best price since Nov. 22. Soybean meal also advanced, up 50 cents to $1.00 at $51.00 a ton.

Buying in crude soybean oil was credited to refiners, Greece was expected to purchase eight million pounds of refined soybean oil Tuesday. A firming influence in soybeans early was purchase of 261,000 bushels of cash beans by Denmark.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK MARKET REPORT

CHICAGO (P)—In an active trade butcher hogs gained 25 to 30 cents while sows jumped 60 cents Monday. The market was aided by the fact salable receipts at 14,000 head were 13,000 under last Monday.

Most 180 to 220-pound butchers sold at $11.25 to $12.00 with numerous lots at $12.25 and 150 head at $12.50, the top.

Steers were steady to 50 cents higher and heifers steady to 25 cents higher. Most choice and prime steers went at $19.50 to $23.00. Top on high prime was $25.00.

Choice to low prime heifers moved at $19.50 to $21.75. Cows were steady to 25 cents higher at $10.00 to $11.00 for utility and commercial and $8.00 to $10.25 for canners and cutters.

Vealers sold steady, good to prime moving at $20.00 to $26.00 and cull to commercial at $10.00 to $19.00. Salable cattle receipts totaled 20,000 head.

All classes in the sheep section held steady. Buyers paid 16.75 to $18.25 for good to prime woolled lambs weighing 100 pounds and less. Salable sheep receipts totaled 3,500.

Community Council To Act On Findings Of Panel Studying Youth

The special steering committee that met the latter part of November and the first of December at the YMCA Youth Center to hear guidance talks and engage in panel discussion concerning the needs of youth in the Jacksonville area and the problems they encounter. The Youth Leadership Workshop was sponsored jointly by the YMCA and Illinois College.

Members of the steering committee who attended, along with the general public, the meetings during the week were Mrs. John Carl, Mrs. Friedrich Engelbach, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Heiss, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Isaacs, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. William Norvell and Mrs. Mary Ellen Williams.

The steering committee has sent the following study to the Community Council, headed by president Dr. Louis Belinson, for further study and action:

Committee Findings

I. CAUSES

In our attempt to understand "causes" of the barriers to full youth development we have found:

A. We cannot sufficiently explain or understand the normal or deviant development of youth in Jacksonville simply by studying one group; that the forces which are vital in shaping the lives of youth form a complex pattern in the expanding world of children through the family, the play group, the neighborhood, the school, and the agencies in the community.

B. "Causes" to problems of youth existing in other communities. Approaches to the solution of these problems which seem relevant to Jacksonville are: Winnebago County's success in finding other means for detaining delinquent youth than by placement in their County Jail; Pope County's combined effort to provide better employment services for their youth through the cooperation of the court, civic organizations, and the State employment service; the cooperation of northern Illinois counties in studying the problems of "children-out-of-school" and the fact that funds have been appropriated for other interested counties to do the same.

C. When considering how youth problems can be approached, it is the needs of the community as a whole we are forced to consider rather than one or two social groups.

II. NEEDS

In our attempt to determine community needs which are closely related to youth problems we have found that:

A. Delinquency in the community is not disproportionately high, but the statistics presented in the first session concerning the numbers of children confronting the law, the jail, and commitment, are still high enough to warrant continued vigilance and efforts directed toward prevention.

B. Children who drop out of school early are in a "danger" period until they become "settled" by finding some socially "accepted place" in the community; that there seems no community facilities or persons specifically responsible to help them do this.

C. The neighborhood plays a very important part in the life of youth and that a "social conscience" or a commonly felt sense of what is right and wrong among people living together goes far toward helping stabilize the healthy growth of children in the area; that a shared sense of "right and wrong" in regard to the behavior of youth "staying out late at night, (participating in 'neeking parties,' etc.) is lacking in neighborhoods as well as the community as a whole.

D. There is evidence to show that some children find it difficult to discuss their personal problems with their parents and turn to their own social groups to work out their difficulties; that evidence suggests that children feel their own peer groups inadequate in many ways to help solve their problems; that there seems to be continued desire to have personal talks with parents, but without fear of their ideas being unaccepted or their being called "too young to understand."

Toy Collection By Moose Lodge Meets Success

According to Joe Eck, chairman of the Moose Lodge civic affairs committee, the people of this area are responding splendidly to Operation Santa Claus during the first two weeks of the campaign. If the same progress continues for the next few days this will be a most joyful Christmas for the needy children in the community.

Toys, either new or undamaged may be left at: Woolen's Gulf service station at North Main and Walnut street; Gilmore's Standard station, South Main and Michigan avenue; Sanders' Texaco Service station, 400 East Marion avenue; Stein's Shell station, West State and North Prairie; Mansfield's D-X station, South Main and West College or the Moose Lodge, 214 South Sandy street.

The local Moose campaign is part of one conducted by more than 1,700 Moose Lodges in the United States, Canada and Alaska to make sure every needy boy and girl is assured of a "Joyful Christmas."

Much of the success of the local campaign is due to the fine cooperation the lodge has received in its publicity efforts through the press and radio. At the last meeting of the lodge the announcement was made that all members are requested to donate canned or staple foods to prepare Christmas baskets for the needy in the community. The annual pollock and Christmas party for members and their families will be held Wednesday night, Dec. 21, at the Moose lodge. All attending are to take two covered dishes, bring a child and a gift for a child's exchange. The meal dish at the dinner will be furnished by the chapter.

GENEVA, Ill. (P)—A fire Monday destroyed a family's home and the Christmas presents they had bought to celebrate the holiday with a serviceman son.

The mother, Mrs. Abraham Wells, had left the home a short time before the fire to pick up her son, James, 17, from the Great Lakes Naval Training Center for a holiday visit.

Mrs. Wells said all personal possessions as well as Christmas presents in the one-story frame home were lost. Firemen estimated damage at $20,000.

Census Shows U.S. Farms Larger, Most Electrified

WASHINGTON (P)—Life on the farm in this country is changing, the Census Bureau reported Monday. Farms are larger but fewer, more have electricity, many are operated without horses and mules, sharecroppers are disappearing and there are more part-time farmers.

These new trends in the U.S. agricultural scene were brought to light in a partial report of the farm census taken in October and November 1954.

The shift toward "horseless farming"—more use of machines—was particularly noticeable.

About 4,400,000 farms—83 per cent of the total—had electricity in 1954. This compared with about 78.3 per cent in 1950.

Almost half of all farms had telephones last year. This is a one-tenth increase over 1950. Using the same years for comparison, farms with milking machines increased 11.9 per cent, farms with compactors increased 51 per cent and the number of tractors on farms rose more than one million.

PITTSFIELD — Verner Earl "Mutt" McCarter, 40, of Pittsfield, shot and killed himself at his home at 11 p.m. Saturday.

He had been dependent in recent months, Coroner Roy Conboy said, due to injuries received about three years ago, when he fell 60 feet while working as a painter in Kansas City, Mo. He suffered severe head and body injuries at that time. Conboy reported a bullet from a .32 revolver was used. An inquest was to be conducted Monday.

Man Injured In Collision Of Cars At Manchester

Robert J. Wilson, 56, of Roodhouse road 3 sustained a head injury at 3:20 o'clock Sunday afternoon as the result of an automobile collision in the south edge of Manchester, on U. S. Alternate 67. Seven young people riding in another car were badly shaken up, and some were reported to have suffered bruises, but none was hospitalized.

The collision occurred between cars driven by Clyde L. Jackson, 17, of Rockbridge, who was traveling north, and Wilson, who was entering the paved highway from the west, according to state police.

Jackson's 1952 Buick and Wilson's 1949 Dodge banged against poles on the east side of the pavement, but did not overturn. Both automobiles were considerably damaged.

Wilson was taken by car to Our Saviour's hospital where his injury was treated, and he remained as a patient. His condition Monday was reported to be "good."

State Patrolman Merle Balke of Winchester said the Rockbridge youth was accompanied by four boys and two girls, and that all were shaken up.

VFW Auxiliary Sponsors Campaign For Hospital Needs

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary to Morgan County Post 1379 in Jacksonville announces the start of its annual magazine subscription campaign. Mrs. John Kelly, chairman, states that the commissions derived this year from sponsoring this plan will be used for the purchase of additional portable sickroom equipment for the use of patients in their own homes.

When received, this new equipment will be housed in Jacksonville and added to the already established sickroom equipment loan cabinet which is loaned free of charge to the residents of Morgan County.

As in past years only accredited representatives of the publishers, each bearing letters of authorization and identification, will call on residents to explain the plan in full detail. These letters will bear the signatures of officers and members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary. All representatives working on the campaign will be registered at the county sheriff's office.

It was stated by officers in full charge of the campaign that the plan will be considered as a community service project and not as a request for donations. Donations will not be accepted by either the representatives working on the campaign or the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary. Everyone co-operating will receive full value in well known magazine subscriptions.

Through this same plan in past years it has been possible to purchase several hospital beds with mattresses, wheel chairs, invalid walkers, and other sickroom equipment.

COOPERATIVE RED FARMERS LONDON (P)—Fifty million peasant households in Red China are on cooperative farms, the Peiping radio reports. It said they represent 40 per cent of the peasants on the mainland.

Council Sees Film On Dutch Elm Disease; Specimens Under Test

A motion picture showing the ravages of the Dutch Elm disease was viewed by members of the city council last night as representatives of a pest control applicator urged officials to take action against the disease which is costing many cities heavily in both trees and money. The movie was followed by slides tracing the manufacture of the spraying machine, which is expected to be demonstrated here at a later date.

During the projection of the movies and slides it was announced that the city highway department has sent four samples of wood to the University of Illinois laboratories for tests to determine if the Dutch Elm disease is responsible for dying or dead trees.

Alderman Allen Kelly said the city has lost some trees, but whether it was due to Dutch Elm disease or phloem necrosis has not been fully established. However, municipal officials throughout the state are alarmed at the advance of elm diseases which has laid low thousands of trees.

Clubs Interested In Trees
Officials of several civic groups interested in preservation of trees attended the council session.

Kemp Ellerbrock of Springfield, district sales manager for the John Bean Division, machinery and chemical corporation, said a number of Illinois cities have already acted to protect trees by acquiring spray equipment. He pointed to Springfield and Pontiac, Ill., as examples of Dutch Elm attacks which left hundreds of dead trees and expense of removing them.

Ellerbrock, who was assisted in showing the movies by Bob Ogle, salesman for the Drake-Scruggs Equipment Co., Springfield, and Clarence Chappell, salesman of the John Bean Division, said Pontiac lost 400 elms in 1953. After using spray equipment furnished by his company the elm toll there this year has been 33 trees, he stated.

The slides featured the manufacture and work of a machine called Rotomist, which propels a spray into the trees. The district manager quoted a price of $3,740 on one model, and gave figures for several others based on size.

4,000 Trees Along Streets
Officials of various civic organizations working to protect trees estimate that Jacksonville has about 4,000 trees on boulevards, and that there are at least 12,000 on both public and private property.

Councilmen watched the films with interest and asked numerous questions. There were no direct statements that the city is in a market for spraying equipment. However, the interest of the council in tree protection was shown several weeks ago when it sent Alderman Sims to a conference in Chicago sponsored by the Illinois Chamber of Commerce, at which a series of talks on tree maladies was given by experts. Municipalities from several states were represented in the attendance of 500.

Regular business of the council was transacted before the showing of the film and slides. Mayor Hoagland said that the council would not meet again for three weeks during the holidays, unless for an emergency. There will be no sessions Dec. 26 or Jan. 2.
